

Project Manager

Internship at Scienseed

You can be passionate about working in creative agencies that handle major shopping centres, top retail brands, or the beverages you enjoy in your leisure time.

At Scienseed, we do none of that.

We are a cutting-edge creative agency specialized in scientific content. We undertake small projects lasting a couple of weeks to large projects spanning several years.

Our clients include major foundations, research centers, and technological startups aiming to showcase their latest research.

Currently we are looking for an intern to strengthen our project team. Your role will involve being the key point of contact with clients and coordinating content and design teams. We want you to help us kickstart projects successfully, ensure seamless communication between clients and the team throughout the project's duration, and conclude each project with excellence.

We continuously consider applications from motivated students who are knowledgeable and passionate about communication and marketing. If you are considering a career in account management and want to try your hand at managing projects for clients from different scientific disciplines, this opportunity is for you!

For more in-depth information, you can visit our website (www.scienseed.com) and our social network accounts.

Requirements:

- English and Spanish, both fluent
- You must be enrolled in a higher education institution, preferably studying towards a title in marketing, communication, advertising or similar discipline.

Other considerations:

- Our offices are in Madrid, but we offer hybrid working model.
- Currently recruiting for a 3-month internship in January 2024 (January-March). Internships could be expanded up to 6 months

How to apply

Please send us an e-mail to careers.projects@scienseed.com with a cover letter and an updated version of your CV as attachments.
